DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

A restriction requirement was sent out 11/12/08. Applicants replied to the requirement and amended and added new claims on 1/12/09. Due to the applicants amendments and addition of new claims, a new restriction requirement appears below. In particular, new claims 12-14 recite specific patient populations and new claim 15 recites various sequences. Since this is a new restriction requirement applicant may elect the same group/species as identified on 1/12/09 or may elect a new group/species. It is noted that this requirement requires the election of a specific patient population and identification sequence if group 1 is elected.

Claims 1-15 are under consideration.

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group 1, claim(s) 1-9,11-15 methods of administering MSH analogues.

Group 2, claim(s) 10, drawn to methods of manufacture.

The inventions listed as Groups 1-2 do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: PCT Rule 13.2 defines "special technical features" as "those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art.” Claim 10 is drawn to a method of manufacture. Hrubby et al (WO 87/04623 as cited in IDS 8/29/06) teach (page 7,9) methods of making alpha-MSH analogs as recited in claim 10. Thus the technical features are not a contribution over the prior art and the claims lack unity.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Election of Species

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

If group 1 is elected, species election is necessary for each of:

1. alpha-MSH analogue: a specific alpha-MSH analogue should be identified from those recited generically in claim 1. Applicant should uniquely identify the compound such that all variable groups are uniquely defined.
2. Patient population: a specific patient population should be identified from those recited in claims 12-14. Applicant should specify the allele/s (see claims 12-13) and/or skin type (see claim 14) of the patient population.
3. Identification sequence: a specific sequence and/or sequences should be identified from those in claim 15.

If group 2 is elected, species election is necessary for each of:

1. alpha-MSH analogue: a specific alpha-MSH analogue should be identified from those recited generically in claim 10. Applicant should uniquely identify the compound such that all variable groups are uniquely defined.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:
All claims are generic to at least one of the species.

There is an examination and search burden for the species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. Each of the species are structurally distinct and one of skill in the art would not recognize that every alternative would behave in the same way. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
